

Spread Pleasure.

Some men move through life as a band of music moves down the street, flipping out pleasure on every side through the air, to everyone far and near that can listen.-Henry Ward Beecher.

Flight of Monstar Eagle Noted. A monster eagle with white head and tail is reported as flying over the lower Kennebec. The big fellow seems to have his home in Arrowsic .- Bos ton Globe.

Suspender Anatomy.

Suppose that instead of being provided with a frictionless, ball and socket joint, your arms had to stretch a muscle or ligament every time you moved them. You would be tired out long before bed time.

Now consider—if you wear the ordinary suspenders you must "stretch rubber" every time you move-it's tiresome.

SHIRLEY PRESIDENT SUSPENDERS

are made with a sliding cord that moves through frictionless tubes, just as your body moves, and as freely; it imitates nature's provision for freedom of motion—it gives comfort to your body and durability to the suspenders. Doesn't this appeal to you as being a sensible reason for wearing the Shirley President Suspenders?

Light, Medium and Heavy Weights. Extra lengths for tall men. Sold by all dealers or by mail direct, 50 cents. Buy now while it is on your Signed guarantee on every pair.

The C. A. EDGARTON MFG. CO. 333 Main St., Shirley, Mass.

MACHINIST OPKINSVILLE MACHINI PAYNE & HARPOLE, PROPR'S. Ш

Daily Health Hint. The exercise of the muscles may be so prolonged that the decay of their particles will exceed the supply of nutrition furnished by the blood. In this case the muscles will grow smaller and weaker from overaction. Some people injure themselves as much by excess of exercise as others do by want of it.

Because it is a NEW CREA-TION, covering every field of the world's thought, action and culture. The only new unabridged dictionary in many years.

Because it defines over 400,000 Words; more than ever before appeared between two covers. 2700 Pages. 6000 Il-

e it is the only dictionary with the new divided
A "Stroke of Genius."

Because it is an encyclopedia in a single volume. Because it is accepted by the Courts, Schools and Prom as the one supreme suthority.

Because he who knows Wins Success. Let us tell you about this new work.

WRITE for specimen of new divided page. & C. NERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, action this pager, receive FRES a set of puches is

Two at

By Catherine Coope

"5098 John!" Mildred's tones went swiftly toward central.

"Hello! Is that you Rex? Yes; Rex-our table at the Tower has been removed so I will be at the one in the second alcove. And Rex, do you mind if I make it one-thirty instead of one? I am in an awful across at Mildred. hurry this morning, so goodby! Oh -Rex," Mildred's tone had assumed a coaxing note, "I have on my lavender frock today. Goodby!"

The girl hung up the receiver hurriedly, then glanced at her neat little exceedingly foolish fashion. lavender clad figure in the long mirror and smiled. The finishing touch would be the few well chosen flowers she knew her brother would bring to her. Rex was unusual for a brother and insisted on these little extravagances for his sister.

Mildred reached up for the fluffy lavender chiffon that floated over her hat and let it drop down across her gested. face. Thus, with a wonderfully beautiful face partially concealed Mildred made her way to the shopping districts.

The shops were attractive and when Mildred finally dragged herself tway it was to find that she would be perhaps ten minutes late for luncheon with her brother.

"Brothers are easily pacified," thought Mildred as she swung through the door of the Tower.

She stood for a moment while her glance played full upon the group of men standing about the entrance hall. Covert, open and swift admiration jumped into many a pair of eyes as she stood there apparently unconscious of the picture she presented; the soft mist of her chiffon veil only added a subtle touch to her beauty.

"The one in the corner," was Millred's inward decision, "is very good looking."

As she passed on into the smaller luncheon room she threw a hurried glance at the man in the corner who had half risen at her entrance.

Without another glance Mildred went to her table.

Rex had arrived but had vanished: the fact of his having been there was evidenced in an exquisite corsage bouquet which lay on the table in the alcove.

"Rex is extravagant today," murmured Mildred, picking up the flowers preparatory to pinning them on. "Three beautiful orchids and my favorite-lily of the valley." She sniffed at them and pinned them in to have a smoke-since I was so late," she mused and glanced through the menu.

Rex had come-she looked up. No!

The man whom she had seen in the hall was seating himself calmly opposite her. She looked across at im, frankly disturbed; her eyes then encountered those of the waiter and indignation should have crushed him, but there was on use trying to explain to a man who scarcely understood English that he had given away a reserved seat. She looked a little musical lilt in her voice. desperately around for Rex.

"You-like the flowers?" fateful words.

An icy chill swept over Mildred, leaving her strangely helpless.

were hers that the table was hers! me to come.' Probably the man whose eyes she that she had answered some personal in the newspapers.

Because, in her discomfiture, she had not found her voice, Mildred him. unpinned the flowers from her dress and put them on the table.

All through the performance the man opposite kept his eyes steadily upon her and a whimsical smile had vid Gray informed her. "First, bedawned in his face.

A flush swept suddenly into Mildred's cheeks and irritation at its he broke off, scarcely knowing whethonslaught made the eyes she turned er or not to continue. scornfully upon him flash fire. She made a movement as if to leave the said and waited. table but at that moment the waiter was standing beside them.

Something in the eyes of the man "I referred to the old, old saying attempted to leave now he would known each other always." command her to stay. Hoping des- "Oh!" said Mildred and for no perately that her brother would are renson whatever she found that her rive in time to prevent a scene, Mil- fingers had fashioned a tiny boutondred sat back and only dropped the niere from her flowers and that Da-her face. She glanced covertly at 26 the man while he looked carefully over the menu. There was something familiar about him and when her eyes rested directly on him he looked up and caught her.

"Do you care for a green salad before or after the joint, Miss Holland?" he asked.

The long flower pin which Mildred held in her fingers snapped, so sudden was the sound of her name. "I-I-prefer it after," she found herself answering. He went back to the menu and after giving the order for luncheon he dismissed the waiter and looked

Despite her anger and her desire to petrify him with a glance, Mildred lost all control of her expression and realized with inward horror that she was smiling in a shy and

"Won't you please put the flowers -where they were?"

Again Mildred found herself obeying him but she felt that her voice would return presently and that she would give this very handsome man opposite her a few well-toned words.

"That lavender cloudy thing-it will be in the way soon?" he sug-

Mildred put the veil up over her hat and now raised her head proudly and looked straight at him. All the force of infinite scorn at herself and toward him blazed in her wide

David Gray started-perhaps from the anger in her eyes and perhaps from mere fear at the beauty of her face.

"Don't look at me-like that," he "Rex Holland and I are friends. He wouldn't want his sister to treat-"

"Where Is Rex?"

"Where is Rex?" Mildred found place. "I suppose Rex has gone off her voice, but it fluttered with strange helplessness.

> you called up. It was I to whom you spoke."

> "Your voice did sound different," admitted Mildred, "but I was in such a rush-"

> "I cannot say that I am sorry," put in David Grav. "Nor am I sorry that Rex had to keep a business luncheon in place of this one."

Mildred found the lids of her eyes unusually hard to lift.

"Aren't you?" she asked finally, "No. Are you?"

"Rex and I always enjoy our The man opposite had spoken the luncheons together," replied Mildred evasively.

"Do you think you could be persuaded to enjoy lunching with any-She had assumed that the flowers one else?" asked Gray. "Rex asked

Instead of that she had stepped Mildred let her eyes rest easily into one of those terrible intrigues. on the honest, laughing eyes, the well poised head and broad capable found so disconcerting supposed shoulders of the man opposite and she did not at the moment express her opinion.

The flattery in her eyes answered

"But why did you look familiar to me-when I first saw you," she questioned during the salad course. "For two very good reasons," Dacause you have probably seen an old picture that Rex has and secondly-"

"I want to know the second," she

David Gray looked at her a moment and then said:

opposite told Mildred that if she that people sometimes seem to have concealing chiffon of her veil about vid Gray's hand had closed over it.

H. C. MOORE

Livery, Feed and Board Stable

We make a specialty of good rigs and gentle horses for ladies, also have something to suit everybody.

Percy Smithson will be with me and will be glad to see all of his old friends.

H. C. MOORE.

Reliable and Comprehensive Telephone service can be had by using the

AUTOMATIC. CHEAP RATES

More than 1400 connections in it's FREE county service, long distance unsurpassed. Night rates after 6 p. m. five minutes allowed for one mes-

HOPKINSVILLE HOME TELEPHONE CO. INCORPORATED.

V. L. GATES.

GATES & BRAKROGGE,

108 South Main Street. Opera House Building

BAR and RESTAURANT

AND LUNCH ROOM.

Our place has been remodeled and we guarantes the best of service. We especially have some fine Wines and Liquors for medicinal purposes. Prompt delivery to any part of the city.

GATES & BRACKROGGE.

Cumb. Phone 315.

Home Phone 1157.

CASH GROCERY

9TH ST., ODD FELLOWS BUILDING. SANDERS JOHNSON. Manager.

Free Delivery Call and get my Prices. Everything Nice, Clean, Fresh and New.

"Rex was out of his office when Don't take my word, but come and see Respectfully,

J. K. TWYMAN.

COOK WITH GAS

CITY LIGHT COMPANY,

Artificial

Are worn by more people than yo think. Don't be backward. Our artificial Teeth are so much like nature that the difference is not apparent. And the price will please you. Painless Extracting 25 Cts.

Next to Court House. Estab. 1902.

Both Phones.